WOMEN ARE ARMED WITH SLING SHOTS

Suffragettes Continue Campaign From Tops of London Omnibusses.

HURL LEADEN DISCS.

"General" Incensed Because of Unidentified Man Paid Her Fine and She Was Not Sent to Prison.

London, Jan. 31.—From the tops of motor omnibusses suffragettes today contniued their novel catapulting campaign. With "sling shots" of home contrivance they hurled leaden discs stamped "votes for women" at house and store windows, but no damage was done and only one militant succeeded in getting herself arrested.

Conspicuous in today's demonstrations was "General" Mrs. Flora Drummond, whose intention was to break into prison again. "General Drummond still was violently exasperated because some misguided and unidentified sympathizer paid $10 fine in Bow Street. Like a martyr she preferred to "go to prison rather than pay one cent fof tribute to a man made government."

Indignation was widespread among the militants when the outrage to "General" Drummond became known. That Mrs. Despard was not allowed to remain peaceably in jail and starve for a fortnight, because of the mistaken generosity of some kindly soul, was bad enough. But when the same thing happened to "General" Drummond, the suffragettes suspected a plot. They decided that it was not sympathizers but scoffers who paid the money. They suspect, so Mrs. Emeline Pankhurst declared today that the men have clubbed together to pay the fines of militants, in order to prevent jail languishments and hunger strikes.

Young Man Commits Suicide.

New York, Jan. 31.—Information of the suicide of Eugene Delano, Jr., at Winnipeg, was received by the young man's family early today by wire. The message contained only the brief notice that the body had been discovered. No member of the family of the young man was able to advance any reason for his act.

It was said today at the Delano residence in Washington Square that the younger Delano was in the habit of making frequent trips to Winnipeg.

"I don't know just what took him to Winnepeg,' 'said J. I. Celray, Delano's brother-in-law. "When he left here Friday he was in the liveliest of moods. The family can hardly believe that he committed suicide.

"If he has killed himself, we have no inkling of a motive. Of one thing I am certain he was not in love and no woman has anything to do with the case."

The Delano family has been prominent in financial circles for many years. The elder Delano has western interests and was for many years director of the United Railways of St Louis. He was also a director of the New York Life Insurance Company.

Divorce Suit.

Senora Constance Lee de Pastor, wife of Senor Don Duis Pastor, formerly Charge d'Affaires of the Spanish Legation in Washington, and now Spanish Minister to China and Siam, has filed suit for annulment of their marriage. There are no children. Justice Barnard ordered the papers sealed and locked in the safe of the clerk of the court, thus making them inaccessible to the public. Mr. Colbert absolutely refused to state the particulars in the case.

Senora Pastor before her marriage in Baltimore, June 10, 1906, performed by Rev. Father Russell, now Monsignor Russell, of St. Patrick's, was Miss Constance Casenova Lee, of Baltimore, a grandniece of Archbald Taylor, of New York.

She is not a Catholic, but is a member of the Episcopal Church.

New York—A ban was placed on an ancient custom, when Rev. James J. Corrigan prohibited the throwing of rice and old shoes at weddings in his church.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

James H. Berry, former United States Senator and Governor of Arkansas,died at Bentonville, Ark., yesterday. At the time of his death he held the rank of major general in command of the Arkansas division, United Confederate Veterans.

As funeral services for her son, Herbert Johnston, Jr., were about to begin in the parlor of her Brooklyn home, Mrs. Mary Johnston left the room and drank poison. She died an hour later in a hospital. The youth's funeral was postponed and there was a double service for mother and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilson, of Stokes county, N. C., whose postoffice addres sis Peter's Creek, Va., have been married 24 years. During this time Mrs. Wilson has presented her husband with 27 children. Among these are one set of triplets and six sets of twins. Mrs. Wilson is only 41 years of age.

The actual sale of women at auction in New York City, was a phase of the "white slave"traffic exposed in New York yesterday by Samuel H. London, former prosecuting attorney of El Paso, Tex., and later identified with the Dpartment of Justice in investigating conditions in the underworld. Mr. London stated that there were 26,500 women in the grip of the vice trust in Greater New York, who earn for their masters an average of $57,200,000 per year. Of this amount Mr. London says the women themselves get a very small percentage.

It was also stated that 95 per cent of the girls and women who disappear from New York fall into the net of the "white slave" brokers.

President Taft yesterday granted a two weeks' reprieve to Samuel W. Rauen, formerly a member of the engineer corps of the United States army, who was sentenced to be hanged in Washington this morning for murdering his wife and brother on March 30th last.

A case of gold to the amount of $25,000 was stolen from the strong room of the German liner Cap Blanco, on the voyage from Rio Janeiro, according to dispatches from Vigo, Spain. The room was opened with a duplicate key.

Burned from head to foot by flames resulting from the explosion of a gasoline stove ,Mrs. Clara Fenton, 56 years old, of 915 Twelfth stret, N. W., Washington, died last night five hours after entering Casualty hospital.

The bodies of W. F. Smith, his wife and M.J.Kelly, were found at Dawson, Y. T. It was evident that Smith had killed his wife and Kelly of whom he was jealous, and then committed suicide.

Decisive defeat of a proposal for the Presidential recall of the Federal Constitution, and the statement that President-elect Woodrow Wilson is committed against a second elective term, enlivened consideration in the Senate yesterday of the resolution to amend the constitution by fixing the Presidential term at six years and making Presidents ineligible to succeed themselves. Senator Bristow, of Kansas, an insurgent, proposed an amendment for the recall of Presidents by popular vote at biennial elections, and Senator Martine, of New Jersey, Democrat and friend of Governor Wilson volunterd the information as to the President-elect's opposition to a second elective term.

The Senate did not reach a vote on the main proposition, and its consideration was resumed today.

A double tragedy was caused in Paris yesterday by a doctor's order that a man and wife would have to be separated, because the woman was suffering from an incurable spinal disease. The sick woman, Mme. Paul Carriere, was told that she must go to a public hospital. Her husband then sent their children to spend the night with an uncle. When the children left their parents were distracted with grief, and the wife expressed the wish to die rather than to be sent away from her husband. Yesterday morning both were found dead in their home, the woman strangled by her husband and the man hanging dead in a doorway.

TURKEY WILL BE DIVIDED BY ALLIES

This Was The Announcement of the Great Powers Today.

NATIONS ANNOYED

Europe Still Hopeful for Peace—Think Porte May Yet be Induced to Accede to Terms of Allies.

London, Jan. 31.—If the Balkan allies renew their war against Turkey and win, they will not be allowed to partition Turkey in Europe in their own way. This was the determination of the great powers of Europe today. It was reached through a consultation of the London ambassadors with Sir Edward Grey, British secretary of State for foreign affairs at the Foreign office and was promptly communicated to the representatives of the Balkan states, remaining here.

Should the allies forcibly bring the Ottoman to terms the final territorial settlement will be made by a general European conference.

This, it was learned from a semi-official source, is the stand taken by the nations of the triple entente and the triple alliance, who do not hesitate to express their hearty disapproval of the allies' denunciation of the armistice.

The ambassadors were excessively annoyed by the half heartedness of Turkey's reply to the powers and the action of the Balkan delegates which they characterized as hasty.

It was learned from Dr. Daneff, the Bulgarian, that none of the Balkan delegates will leave London before the end of the week and the allies shall adher to their arrangement to leave four representatives, one from each of the States, in London, for emergency.

The powers are stil lhopeful for peace, according to information from the foreign office. The fact that in the Ottoman note, the Young Turks were more conciliatory and offered more than ever before encouraged the ambassadors to believe that Turkey might still be brought to meet demands of the allies. Equally encouraging was the construction put by the ambassadors on the decision of the Balkan delegates to leave envoys in London indefinitely.

Five Persons Perish.

Ottumna, Iowa, Jan. 31.—Five persons were burned to death when the residence of Major Harris, 45, was destroyed at Richland, Iowa, early today. The dead are:

Major Harris, his wife, 30.

Mrs. Fannie Harris, 80, his mother and two children, Armet Harris, 10, and Turvis Harris, seven.

The fire was discovered by neighbors, but when they arrived they could do nothing. The fire is supposed to have started from an incubator in the basement.

Pastor Russell Loses.

A verdict for the Brooklyn Eagle and against Pastor Charles T. Russell, of "miracle" wheat fame was returned by a jury before Supreme Court Justice Kelby Tuesday at the close of a $100,000 libel suit in the Brooklyn newspaper of a cartoon pretending to portray the plaintiff in the act of being called away from his task of peddling "miracle" wheat to join the "Onion" Bank directors.

Pastor Russell objected to the cartoon on the ground that it was an unfair characterization, which pictured him as a crook and fit company for the men who had wrecked the Union Bank. He objected also to the title "Easy Money Puzzle" that appeared beneath the cartoon, and furthermore, to extracts from the news and editorial columns, including a paragraph in which he was credited, he alleged with "the wisdom of the serpent."

Demand Eight-Hour Day.

London, Jan. 31.—The labor party, in its annual convention today adopted resolutions, demanding an eight-hour working day for both women and men in all trades, and for the repeal of the workmen's contribution law under the insurance act.

ALEXANDRIA SETS EXAMPLE.

Washington Newspaper Praises Fans For Banquet to Clark Griffith.

Under the above heading, William Peet,sporting editor of Washington Herald says:

"Does it not impress the casual observer as strange that first official recognition on the part of baseball fans, for what he accomplished with the Nationals in Washington last season, should come to Clark Griffith from Alexandria?

"That old stuff about the prophet being without honor in his own country seems to be borne out here.

"Why wouldn't it have been a nice thing last fall for the baseball loving fans of the District to have gotten together, invited Griffith to attend a monster mass meeting or banquet and to have told him that his work was appreciated. Alexandrians did it Wednesday night and the welcome he was tendered by the citizens of the Virginia city will long remain a tender memory.

"Hats off to Alexandria and the Cardinal Athletic Club."

In another column on the sporting page of the Herald appears the following:

"It was not the red fire in Alexandria Wednesday which left a dark brown taste in a certain fellow's mouth Thursday morning. Oh, no!"

"Mayor Tom Fisher of Alexandria, is a grand fellow. Here's hoping he holds his job for years to come."

PREPARING FOR HORSE FAIR.

Duncan Stables Receive Three Magnificent Stallions.

Three of the finest horses ever seen in Alexandria are now quartered in the handsome new stables of James Duncan on St. Asaph street. They were brought here for the horse fair and sales which Mr. Duncan will soon inaugurate and which will be a regular part of his business in the future. Years ago Alexandria was one of the best horse markets in this section of the country and Mr. Duncan hopes to revive the scenes of earlier days.

One of the horses is the stallion "Vidocq," a handsome dapple gray, which was purchased by Mr. Duncan from John T. Judd, of the Hayfield Farms. He is a registered pedigreed percheron and weighs 1650 pounds.

The other two horses are from the stock farm of Colonel Crawford, at Newark, Ohio, and were brought here for sale. Both are imported, one a black percheron, weighing 2160 pounds and the other a bay Belgian weighing 1970 pounds.

LORDS REJECT BILL.

Admit They Cannot Prevent it Becoming Law.

After a four day's discussion the British House of Lords last night rejected the Home Rule bill, 326 to 69. The result was a foregone conclusion.

The speeches aroused little interest because, as the Earl of Halsbury pathetically observed, the position of the House was not then of an ordinary debating club—the peers could express their views and reject the bill, but they could not prevent it from becoming law.

Nevertheless the largest muster of peers since the fateful evening they passed the Parliament bill, assembled in the House, and bejewelled peeresses filled the side galleries.

Lord Lansdowne wound up the debate for the opposition; Lord Morley, of Blackburn for the government.

The scene was altogether lacking in the dramatic excitement which accompanied the Lord's rejection of Mr. Gladstone's bill in 1893 by a far larger majority. 387.

Lord Morley in closing the debate, remarked the absence of the ferocity which characterized the debates on the Gladstone measures, and, replying to Lord Lansdowne's warning that the giving of home rule to Ireland would be a menace to England if England ever were involved in serious international trouble, reminded Lord Lansdowne that his own land policy would give Ireland cash or credit to the extent of two hundred millions British money, and that Lord Lansdowne would scarcely be likely to do that if he really believed that Ireland was likely to become England's enemy.

Lord Curzon, in a speech earlier in the evening, also referred to the listlessness the public had shown over the bill and to "the deplorable and unutterable flatness of the debates in the House of Commons."

The division was on party lines, practically the whole of the Episcopal bench voting against the bill.

NAVAL VICTORY FOR TURKISH VESSELS

Three Greek Warships Said to Have Been Destroyed In Conflict.

FIGHT IN AEGEAN SEA.

Porte Orders Envoys to Peace Conference to Proceed Forthwith to Constantinople.

Constantinople, Jan. 30.—The Turkish Cruiser Maidieh today attacked and destroyed three Greek warships in the harbor of Campalia, and Islands of the Sporades.

Stampalia is a Turkish island in the Aegean Sea, lying near the Grecian archipelago, 20 miles from Amorgos.

The onslaught of the Turkish cruiser on the Greek vessels was not a violation of the armistice, or the stipulation for four day's warning of its denunciation since Greece never signed the protocol of Bachte. The Turks and Greeks have fought on the sea and on land in Janina almost daily since the peace conference first met in London.

Constantinople, Jan. 31.—The sublime porte today ordered the Turkish delegates to the London peace conference to return forthwith to Constantinople. The summary withdrawal of the Ottoman envoys while Bulgara, Servia, Montenegro, and Greece agreed each to leave one representative in London, is taken as an act of retaliation for the hurried denunciation of the armistice by the allies. Rechid Pasha, Osman Nazim Pasha, and Twefik Pasha were commanded to report to the Porte as quickly as possible.

Mutiny Suffered.

Berlin, Jan. 31.—A news agency dispatch from Constantinople said that the Young Turks troops have subdued Mutineers at Chatalja and stopped their march on the city.

A conference was reported between representatives of Enver Bey and officers of the disaffected soldiers and the new government promised amnesty to all deserters who would immediately return to the ranks.

Murderers To be Liberated.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—Twenty-four murderers now in the state penitentiary at Joliet, will be given their freedom. The commutation of their sentences was announced as one of the last acts of Governor Charles S. Deneen.

The action of the governor has caused bitter criticism from police heads, as the city is over-run with bandits, and thugs and Police Chief McSweeney, has asked 2,000 additional police.

Bryd Extols Wilson.

New York, Jan. 31.—President-elect Wilson was extolled as a man duly capable of rising to emergencies by Richard Evelyn Byrd, speaker of the House of Delegates of Virginia, at the annual dinner Wednesday evening of "The Virginians," at Sherry's. The two hundred diners, among them were many prominent men, applauded Mr. Byrd.

"I believe that the great Democrat who is President-elect will not only proves himself a great statesman" said Mr. Byrd, "but likewise a great Democratic leader—the acknowledged and unquestioned chief of his party. I think the people have elected the man who, of all others, seems to be best fitted for the task, for he has shown not only a wonderful grasp of governmental problems, but he has proved that he can translate his principles into politics, and his politics into results."

HOME RULE HAS ONE MAJORITY

Only Eleven Electors Fail to Cast Their Ballots Yesterday.

A SPIRITED CONTEST.

Seventeen Nationalists, Sixteen Unionists—Invalid Voters Brought to Polls on Cots in Rain.

Londenberry, Ireland, Jan. 31.—The official count today showed that the Nationalists carried the Londenberry election by 57 votes. David C. Hogg, Nationalist, polled 2,699 votes against 2,642 for Col. A. H. Packenham, Unionist. This gives the Home Rule advocates 17 seats in Ulster as against 16 held by the Unionists and proves that Ulster is not overwhelmingly against Home Rule.

Only eleven electors in the whole of Londonberry failed to cast their votes in yesterday's election and some of them were paired.

There was never a more closely contested election in the constituency by reason of the fac tthat the result determined the control of Ulster. The seat to be filled would give either the Nationalists or the Unionists the majority of the members of the province and have a telling effect in the Home Rule controversy.

The seat was that of the Marquis of Hamilton, a staunch Protestant anti-home-ruler. A driving rain poured down all day. Invalids on cots were carried to the polling places. In one instance the Nationalists went after a man and found him dead. In several cases where constituencies were too sick to be taken out of their homes they were paired with members of the opposite party.

As a result of the contest the Nationalists now hold 17 seats in Ulster and the Unionists 16. It can no longer be said that Ulster is against Home Rule.

Steamer Safe.

Boston, Jan. 31.—The French liner Mexico, which lost a propeller in a terrific storm 150 miles off Sable Island yesterday and sent out "S. O. S." calls for help is safe. The Leylander Liner Devonian, this afternoon wireless'd that she has the Mexico in tow, with all on board safe, and is proceeding to this port.

800 LBS. OF MEAT STOLEN

Thieves Enter House a Short Distance From Alexandria and Carry off Contents

Mr. Davis, a railroad section foreman, who lives on the line of the railroad near the crossing at Four-mile run, reported to the police of this city yesterday that his meat house was broken open by thieves on Wednesday night and the entire contents—about eight hundred pounds—carried away.

Chief Goods with the other officers of the city have been keeping a sharp lookout for the appearance of the thieves in Alexandria as it was supposed they would come here to dispose of their plunder. Their efforts however, have, so far, been futile. It is supposed the meat was carried to some near-by city.

The number of robberies in Fairfax county near Alexandria during the past few weeks is causing apprehension.

LAST NIGHT'S BANQUET

Sharps and Flats Gather Around Festive Board in Confederate Veterans Hall

Those who attended the banquet of the Sharps and Flats in Confederate Veterans' Hall last night, are profuse in expressions of the pleasure of having been in the party. There were fifty-five guests, all of whom had a delightful experience.

The feast was prepared and served by the ladies of the Arlington Monument Committee, Mrs. L. W. Reid, chairman, and they had anticipated everything which could have in any manner have augmented the pleasures of the occasion.

The tables had been tastefully and invitingly set, and the culnary skill of the ladies was displayed to the greatest advantage.

After the discussion of the feast, Mr. George H Evans, who acted as toastmaster, called the company to order, and made a few appropriate remarks, after which Mrs Reid voiced the appreciation of the committee if the aid given by the organzation to the ladies in their work towards the purposed Confederate monument at Arlington.

Mrs. M. W. O'Brien also made a few appropriate remarks.

Speeches were subsequently made by Messrs. H. B. Caton, J. R. Caton, jr., James Roberts, jr., M. L. Dinwiddie, K. W Ogden, Herbert Oliver, J W. May and James Douglass, jr

During the evening Mrs. O'Brien was presented with a bouquet of poinsettias.

DISORDERLY NEGROES.

A gang of negroes, male and female, gathered at the intersection of Wilkes and Fairfax streets at four o'clock this morning, when an excited colloquoy took place which resulted in one of the women running and crying murder at the top of her voice. A telephone message was sent to the station house and policemen hurried to the scene. The gang, however, disappeared before the arrival of the officers. The ante bellum law of the city requiring all negroes to be in doors after 10 o'clock at night had many good features.

Metal Beds have now almost entirely supplanted the wooden. The reasons for this are obvious and sensible. Metal Beds can be used with any nd presenting a neat and effective furnishings, harmonizing perfectly a appearance. They are strictly sanitary, easily kept clean, and are no more expensive than the wooden.

Beds and Bedding should be selected with care, and we say this not merely because all shown here are, but because health, rest, and comfort to a great degree are dependent upon proper bedding. We have provided for the specific needs of all, and offer substantial values throughout.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION.

SAY BOY KILLED HIM.

Police Learn Identity of Alleged Assailant of Edward Pegram.

Richmond, Jan. 31.—According to information obtained by Patrolmen J. J. Smith and Galbraith, the negro who cut the throat and caused the death of Edward Pegram, colored, Tuesday night at Adams and Leigh street, is Maceo Neal, thirteen years old. It was learned that he had been at home Wednesday morning, but when the officers ascertained he was accused of the murder and swore out a warrant he was not to be found. His capture is confidently predicted.

Pegram who was seventeen years old, was murdered as a result of a quarrel over fifteen cents. Immediately after the crime was discovered and until a late hour Wednesday the police were at sea as to the identity of Pegram's assailant. Witnesses, however, were located by Galbraith and Smith and they are said to have placed the blame on Neal, who, though only thirteen years old, is said to be well-grown and the size of a youth of seventeen.

CHARGED WITH KIDNAPPING.

Prospective Bride From Norfolk Leaves Young Man, Who Was To Wed Her.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 31.—A warrant has been issued for J. Laurens Nichols, who lives in Washington, for alleged violations of the white slave law, and on other charges.

The warrant is based on the experience of Miss Ruth Elizabeth Sumner, a pretty 17-year-old girl, who told a story of her life since she left her Texas home. Miss Sumner and William Hambrich came to Baltimore in January last, from Norfolk, and the man was charged with violating the white slave law.

At the hearing J. Laurens Nichols, a man of more than 50 years, swore he was the husband of the girl. She testified that this was so, and that she was on her way from her home in Texas to join Nichols in Norfolk when she met Hambrich on the train and decided to run away from Nichols. Nichols pleaded with the magistrate to dismiss the charge against Hambrich so that he and his "dear little wife could go back to Norfolk together and live happily." The charge was dismissed.

It now develops, according to the police, that Nichols was never married to the girl, but, according to her story, he got her away from her home last July on the pretext of keeping her as his stenographer on his travels about the country. He told her paralyzed father, it is alleged that he would be a "father" to her.

Instead, he went to Washington, the police state, engaged a room for the girl there, while he lived in another part of the city, frequently visiting Miss Sumner however. It is now learned that he was living with his real wife. The latter is now being held, charged with kidnapping the girl.

SUICIDE FROM GRIEF.

Woman Drinks Carbolic Acid After Bereavement of Mother.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 30.—Grief over the death of her mother, coupled with alleged domestic happiness, caused Mrs. Ida Mitchell, 36 years old, to end her life by drinking a large quantity of carbolic acid yesterday morning in her flat on the third floor of 306 North Fifth street.

The despondent woman died in the afternoon, two ambulance physicians who were hastily summoned to the house being unable to save her life.

Mrs. Mitchell, who was the wife of James Mitchell, a metal ceiling worker, was found writhing in agony with her lips and chin badly scarred by the fiery acid, when a driver for a coal and wood firm called at the flat to deliver a load of wood. He knocked on the door but received no reply.

Instead, he heard moans inside the room. Opening the door he found the woman lying face downward and with a strong odor of carbolic acid permeating the atmosphere.

The driver made known his discovery to the other occupants of the house,and within efew minutes two ambulance physicians were working over Mrs. Mitchell.

Mrs. Mitchell was left alone shortly before 11 o'clock. It is believed by the police and coroner that immediately after the last member of her family left the flat she prepared to end her life. She wrote several notes and letters to relatives and friends, one of them being to her daughter Mamie, and another to her son.

DISASTER TO SCHOONER.

Revenue Cutter Takes Off Two of Crew Who Refused Earlier Aid.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 31.—Refusing to leave the vessel when their captain and eight of their shipmates were taken off Wednesday afternoon, two members of the crew of the four-masted schooner S. P. Blackburn were rescued last night by the revenue cutter Mohawk. The schooner was sighted near Cape Charles yesterday afternoon by the Mohawk, which left here to search for her.

The steamer Tiverton took off eight members of the crew Wednesday, and landed them in Baltimore yesterday. The two men who remained on board are reported to have been completely exhausted from working at the pumps when their shipmates were rescued. They were below decks and refused to come up and get in the lifeboat from the Tiverton when called.

The Blackburn had her lifeboats smashed by high seas, her canvas was torn, and she was leaking badly when the Mohawk reached her. The revenue cutter will try to tow the vessel to a safe shelter in Hampton Roads.

Held For Grand Jury.

Bristol, Va., Jan. 30.—Charged with felonious assault in a disturbance on a Virginia and Southwestern train during the holidays, former Sheriff James Bradley, of Carter county, was this week held for the grand jury by Magistrate Pile in a hearing given the former Sheriff here this week. Bradley was also fined $40 including costs, for being drunk and indulging in a disturbance on the train. Others had been fined in this connection in advance of the hearing given Bradley. The trouble on the train caused the women to flee from the coach in anticipation of a shooting. The cases were prosecuted by Special Officer W. S. Wicks, of the railway.

Southern Train Wrecked.

Danville, Va., Jan. 30. — Southbound train No. 29, on the Southern Railway, was wrecked here Wednesday night at 11:30 o'clock when pulling out of the depot. The engine split a switch and took to the ties, taking three mail cars with it. The train was proceeding quite slowly, and few of the passengers in the rear cars knew what had happened until they were informed by the conductor. The accident, which occurred just in front of the Danville and Western depot, delayed the train at least four hours.

Investigatnig Death of Girl.

Lynchburg, Va., Jan. 31.—The police are makin ga very vigorous investigation into death of Eva D. Preddy, which occurred at the Lynchburg Hospital early Wednesday morning, 36 hours after she had became a mother. Duval C. Haas, a young bookkeeper, is being held and bail has been refused him for the present.

The police say Haas visited the girl at her boarding house Saturday evening. She was unconscious when taken to the hospital and made no statement as to the cause of her condition.

After the girl's death several bruisese were found about her face and the police in endeavoring to ascertain the cause of her death, are trying to discover how she received this. The case has excited much attention in the city today.

ALLEGED SLAYER CAPTURED.

One Man Under Arrest and Another Followed by Officers.

Wythevile, Va., Jan. 31.—Jim Cornett has been captured by Deputy Sheriff Collier, of Wise county, on the charge of being an accomplice in the killing of "Judge" Wade, a young attorney of Appalachia, Va., who was waylaid by two men, shot and killed near that place two weeks ago. Sam Shepherd is the other one of the two wanted on the charge.

Deputy Sheriff Collier, one of the most persitent sleuths of Wise county, with bloodhounds has been leading a posse of men since the murder through the wild fastnesses of the Cumberlands, almost day and night, and in the long chase over a circuitous trail of many miles leading back to within five miles of where Wade was killed. Cornett was captured at his home at East Stone Gap, Shepherd is still at large, and his trail has been lost, but the chase for his apprehension is yet being pursued in frenzied hope. His reputation is that of one of the most dangerous chraacters that breathes the breath of liberty and that "no stone will be left unturned until he stands before the bar of justice" has gone out as the declaration of the officers who are in pursuit. Having already as a precedent three untimely graves to his credit, it is recited. Wade's death has infuriated the majesty of the law into a determination to put an end to the bad man's career.

Suicide of a Virginian.

Baltimore, Jan. 31.—A moment after a pistol shot rang out in the room of John A. Weston, 68 years old, a retired contractor and Confederate veteran, relatives rushed there to find him with a gaping wound in his right temple and see him breathe his last. The tragedy occurred in the home of his brother, Thomas B. Weston, Green Spring Park, Mount Washington, shortly before 6 o'clock yesterday morning.

Weston had been residing with his brother for several years and was living a retired life. He was a son of the late John and Drusilla Weston, and served with honor as a private in the Confederate ranks during the civil war in the Fifth Virginia Cavalry and was imprisoned for an entire year at Point Lookout. His wife died several years ago.

Swept Over Dam.

Petersburg, Va., Jan. 31.——An unknown man was drowned in the harbor here yesterday morning, but there is mystery as to how or where he got into the river. It is supposed that he fell from the foot-bridge crossing to Pocahontas and was swept over the dam by the rapid flood current. His struggles were witnessed by several persons, but he sank before aid could reach him. The body has not been recovered.

THE CASE OF GENERAL DANIEL E. SICKLES.

It seems that at the first use of the probe it entered but a short distance into the financial affairs of Daniel E. Sickles. The extent of his liabilities will, it is asserted by his son, aggregate nearer a quarter of a million dollars than $23,000,the amount certain Southern people, while suffering from sporadic cases of "gush", announced their purpose to raise in order to keep the former congressman and federal general out of the clutches of the law.

Statements credited to the wife and son, of Sickles, who now faces imprisonment, because of his responsibility for a shortage of $23,000 in the funds of the New York state monument commission, allege that all of General Sickle's troubles are directly due to the influence of Elmer Wilmerding,the general's housekeeper. It was said that Miss Wilmerding was directly responsible for the separation of Gen. Sickles and Mrs. Sickles. One thing is certain, no one is ever allowed to confer with the General without first interviewing Miss Wilmerding, who is usualp present when the general does entertain a visitor.

Stanton Sickles is accredited with making a public financial statement, showing the present monetary conditions of his father.

"I believe when the true facts are known," says the younger Sickles, "that it will be shown that besides dissipating the $2,000,000 estate left by my grandfather, George E. Sickles, my father is greatly in debt."

The table of General Sickle's liabilities foots up to $254,276, asde from the general's idebtedness to the state monument fund. The liabilities consists of mortgages on New York real eastate and unpaid interest thereon. Explaining his purpose in giving out this statement of his father's financial entanglements, Stanton Sickles said he did it "to show how useless it is for misguided persons to send contribution to state officials or to my father, looking toward his "relief," said the son. "I am informed the fund to be collected by Sheriff Harburger was added to only to the extent of $21.

"People are beginning to realize that their contributions are useless, that my father is irreparably ruined, and his only salvation lies in assisting my mother and myself to recover some of the tens of thousands of dollars he has lavished upon women. Despite Mrs. Longstreet's appeal, I am certain, too, that none of the 'ragged and maimed' veterans of Lee will contribute toward the relief of a man who openly announced that he would not support President-elect Wilson because he was the son of a rebel.' '

It is officially announced on behalf of the members of the state monument committee, of which Gen. Sickles was chairman, up to the time of his deposing that the commission will take no steps toward the relief of the aged warrior.

INSTITUTIONS AND SOCIETIES OF ALEXANDRIA.

(The Alexandria Library.)

Alexandria's earliest effort for the advancement of learning and literary culture was the founding of the Library Association. On the 24th of July, 1794, a number of the prominent citizens of the town met at the home of John Wise and formed themselves into a voluntary association and adopted certain resolutions towards forming a permanent institution for the circulation of books and other literature—to be called "The Library Company of Alexandria." On the 31st of the same month the following officers were chosen:—President—Rev. James Muir. Directors:—Elisha C. Dick, Robert Mease, Charles Simms, John Gill, William Hartshorne, John D. Parr, Charles Lee and John Fitzerald. Treasurer—Samuel Craig. Librarian—Edward Stabler. With one execption (Robert Mease) these are all familiar names; indeed quite a large proportion of them have representation descendants among us. They were all men of arts, who had made themselves prominent in some good work for the town and country The Association continued voluntary for four years, when an Act of incorporation was obtained from the Legislature of Virginia, which however proved defective and a new one was passed in 1799 which has remained unaltered to the present day. On its being represented that the inhabitants of Alexandria had procured a considerable library for their improvement, the General Asesmbly were desirous of promoting so laudable an institution and it was therefore enacted "that the said Library Company be, and are hereby made a body politic and corporate, by the name of the Alexandria Library Company and that name shall have perpetual succession and a Common Seal, with a capacity to purchase, receive and possess goods and chattels lands and tenements in fee simple or otherwise: Provided, that they shall not purchase, receive or possess more lands and tenements, goods and chattels as aforesaid than shall be sufficient for carrying out the beneficial purpose of this institution." It was also enacted that the Library Company should have annual meetings at which a president and eleven directors should be elected, these being empowered to fill vacancies and to fix the salaries of the Librarian, Treasurer and other necessary officers. Thus started, the Alexandria Library Company entered on over half a century of increasing prosperity, and the shelves became weighted with the best publications of England and the United States. It is observable that fiction held a comparatively small space, The works of Richardson, Fielding and Smollet appeared in their substantial leather bindings, and later came the works of Scott, Galt, Edgeworth, Austin and Fanny Burney, while many familiar authors from year to year found places on the library shelves, which were filled out with works on History, Travel, Biography, Religion, and the Arts and Sciences, which latter, however, had but a small showing, while biographies and memories were there, in the language of modern slang, "to burn," in many instances a fate merited and in fact accomplished under the impartial administration of recent years. Magazines were subscribed for by the Board of Directors, starting as far back as 1773. Manyof these were probably bought already bound at the end of the year. Much useful interesting matter is contained in these neglected old books and one is surprised in looking over them to find how much communication there was at that time between our country and the remote outside world, which was brought in by sailing vessels—the latest news from Algiers or an account of a heavy storm on the Indian Ocean ,and a sailor's description of the Northern Aurora. Hardly a volume of these old magazines but has some Alexandria news, showing it to have been recognized as an important center. One of them gives a schedule of the exports, with names of vessels in West India trade. Dr. Dick appears with a remedy for epilepsy, and an antidote for the poison of night shade. A nameless writer describes "General Washington as he appears today" while a melancholy tale, concerning the evils of gambling, whereby Miss Francis Braddock (sister of the General,) was reduced to such straits from the loss of her fortune, that she committed suicide by hanging, after arraying herself in her best garments and the little jewelry remaining to her. Many love lorn stories are strewn through these volumes, mostly of extremely depressing type, where the beautiful heroine suffering troubles indescribable, expires in poverty, or her lovers arms.

It is hard to conceive that minds which required the philosophical and religious reading which is so well represented in the Alexandria Library, could tolerate such trifling and absurd tales as are contained in these magazines, along with extracts from Locke, Paine and Jeremy Taylor; but then, as now, all tastes had to be suited, and the woes of Edwin and Angelina appealed more to the masses of readers, than did the philosophy of Bacon. It would be of interest to know what books certain men read, but as the method of entering the books was by number, rather than by title, it makes investigation very tedious and often impossible, as many of the old catalogue numbers are lost. In looking over the first year's list of subscribers I observe that Col. Henry Piercy (who was an officer of the Revolution and member of the Cincinnati Society,) read more books than any other subscriber. John Fitzgerald, Philip Marsteller and Charles Simms, also prominent as Revolutionary Colonels, were great readers. The subscribers were allowed to take out whole sets of volumes by one author, at a time. Undoubtedly this was a bad plan, as a few notes by the librarian show—"Book lost, J. D. Simms, had it last." "Odd volume of Dryden, not returned." These notes were written "in an informal manner on the inside cover of the librarian's book, nad demonstrate how far away the business methods were from those of the present efficient officer. Some of the early patrons were sea captains, who carried books away to read during their voyages. Besides books of travel, these were frequenly novels such as "Roderick Random," and "Peregrine Pickle," and later on in the history of the Alexandria library, they took away the old bound volumes of "Ivanhoe" and "Kenilworth," showing that the demand for Scott's works necessitated getting a new edition. It is worthy of observation that the men who were most prominent in other good works in the town, appear as those most interested in the Library. Of these may mention Rev. James Muir, its first president, who was also Chaplain of the Alexandria Washington Lodge of Masons and officiated in that capacity at the funeral of the lamented Washington, Edward Stabler, the first librarian, Dr. Elisha C. Dick, of more than local reputation, William and Robert Hartshorne, and their sometime enemies—the Mandeville brothers—Thos. Rogerson Captain of the Town Militia (ancestor of S Magruder Dent,) Charles Bennett, the intentional "Public Benefactor," Francis Peyton of "Peyton Grove," William Herbert and William Ramsay, each at one time Mayor of Alexandria, the Vowells, the Jamiesons, Ellis Price, (a great reader, and the Quakers Aaron Hewes, Philip Wanton, Jordecai, Miller and Benjamin and Caleb Hallowell. A fair showing of representation men who were succeeded by men not less worthy—and the Alexandria Library first an experiment, had become a solid institution. It is probable that the rooms of the Christian Association over the old bank on the northeast corner of Washington and Prince streets, were first used by the Library Company and later the books were shelved at the Alexandria Museum in the Market House. About 1834 several prominent citizens undertook to raise means for the building of a public hall where lectures might be delivered on literary, scientific and religious subjects, and where local societies might hold their meetings. This project was finally accomplished in 1839, when the Lyceum was erected on the southwest corner of Washington and Prince streets. This building which is of classic proportions in the Doric style of architecture, contained a commodious auditorium, and rooms which were given up to the use of the Alexandria Library which continued to occupy them until the breaking out of the civil war, when the building was seized by the Federal troops to be used as a hospital. Many of the books were then stolen and carried off, but interested citizens succeeded in securing and storing the greater number of them. A few years after the war they were brought out and installed in a room in the second story of Germann's bakery later occupied by Lozano's dry goods store. The town's people had hardly recovered sufficiently from the effects of the war to be able to support a public library, and it was soon removed to a small room in the second story of the store on the northeast corner of King and Washington streets, where after a few months it was closed, and the books remained in storage there until 1897. During that year Miss Virginia Corse, with unsurpassed energy, interested the citizens of Alexandria and by her tactful and business like methods secured a sufficient number of subscribers to warrant the reopening of the Alexandria Library with a board of lady managers. This was done in a contracted space in one of the rooms of the Peabody school building on the northwest corner of King and Alfred streets. Here it continued with slowly growing prosperity until 1903. Mrs. J. L. Monroe succeeded Miss Corse as president of the library board of managers in January 1906, at which time it became apparent that more shelving was necessary, as many of the books were packed away and were becoming the prey of mice and book worms. Commodious rooms were eventually found in the house on Prince street, then recently acquired by the Lee Camp Veterans C. S. A., and the task of removing the books was undertaken by the ladies, who unpacked, dusted, sorted and had conveyed to their new quarters, all the possessions of the Alexandria Library. During the progress of this work, the original charter granted the Library Association in 1799, was found—was framed and hung on the wall of the new rooms. The books now overflow the shelves, and from time to time weeding out of unnecessary literature has been required. A comfortable and well lighted reading room is open to the public six nights in the week—the tables are supplied with the best current magazines and newspapers, while many attractions are offered the readers by the open book cases. The prosperity which now seems assured, it is hoped, will continue for all time, for the improvement and pleasure of our citizens—and as a monument to those men who in the past created, and those women of the present generation who have made the Alexandria Library what it is today.

LITTLE CHANGE IN MARKET.

Eggs Reach Low Water Mark. Vegetables Are Plentiful.

The remarkable mild winter has had the effect of filling the markets with a plentiful supply of vegetables while it has been so warm that the hens have been producing a bountiful supply of eggs. Eggs are cheaper than they have been at this season in years. There was a plentiful supply today, good western eggs selling at 20 cents per dozen while strictly fresh, near-by eggs were sold at 25 cents.

Cauliflower and new cabbage appeared on the market again, the former selling for 10, 15 and 20 cents a head while the latter brought five and eight cents a head.

Potatoes are still high, sweet potatoes soaring in the neighborhood of 40 cents per peck.

STRIKE IN PITTSBURG.

Officials Insist on Meeting Men Not Union Officials.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 31.—The Rankin-Braddock strike issue is unionism. A shift in the wage system from day rate to tonnage rates started the strike, but recognition of the union has become the issue.

This seemed certain today when the steel company announced what is approximately a general advance of ten per cent. in wages in Allegheny county, and workingmen and labor leaders were still only "hopeful" of results, from tomorrow's proposed conference. The officials of the American Steel and Wire Company, insist that they will meet only a committee of workmen who have grievances, and will not recognize union officials. As the rodmen, heretofore not members of the union, and striking only out of sympathy for fellow-workmen, are organizing, many believe the union issue will have grown stronger than ever before by the time the strikers and company officials get together.

"If anyone can bring the strike to a close, I shall be pleased" said Organizer Flynn today. If a settlement can be obtained by my leaving the country I will go to Canada.

Mrs. T. Marshall Jones has issued most interesting invitations, which foretell an attractive evening for next Tuesday, Mardi Gras Tuesday. They read:

"Won't you come to my Dutch supper,
All the ladies will be there;
And, for once leave your hubby,
I don't think that he will care.
'Twill be Tuesday, next, at eight
And we'll play cards, so don't be late."

A prompt answer to her most unique form of invitation eagerly says:

"Yes, I'll come to your Dutch supper
And, for once, I won't be late,
And I don't mind leaving hubby,
When Mistress Jones says, "Come at eight."
I'll surely be there on the "dot,"
Please "put my name in the pot."

DEMAND INDEMNITY.

London, Jan. 31.—The four states of the Balkan alliance this afternoon presented to Turkey a demand for a joint cash indemnity of $200,000,000.

Of this amount $75,000,000 is to cover the indebtedness of the conquered Turkis rehtritory for which debts the Balkan nations to which the territory is finally allotted will be responsible, according to the agreement of the Powers.

The allies said that the indemnity demand would be increased if the war is resumed.

ON VERGE OF BREAKDOWN.

Commander of Hiking Suffragettes Recuperating.

New York, Jan. 31.—Suffering from over-work and on the verge of a break down, Gen. Rosalie Jones, commander of the suffragette army of "hikers" has left town and today was said to be in Cold Spring Harbor, where she planned to remain for a week or ten days. She will return to New York in time to head the band of hikers who will march from here to Washington starting February 12th. So quietly did "Gen." Jones get away early in the week that it was not known to her associates until today. Only a few of her intimate friends were aware of the fact.

Miss Ida Craft who was the general's main standby on the walk to Albany, has taken charge of arrangements for the trip to Washington.

MUSTEROLE
WILL NOT BLISTER

Truth is simple, requiring neither study nor art. Reputation is not made, though sometimes it may be lost, in a day. Nearly forty years of business experience has proven to John A. Marshall & Bro., that it is healthful to tell the truth. Their success in the shoe business is due to their straightforwardness in business and in strictly clinging to an honest opinion about the goods they sell.

THE TEST THAT TELLS.

Is The Test of Time. Many Alexandria People Have Made This Tet.

Years ago this Alexandria citizen told in a public statement the benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills.

The statement is now confirmed—the testimony complete. Instances like this are numerous. They doubly prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Can any Alexandria reader demand more convincing proof? It's Alexandria testimony—it may be investigated.

Mrs. Anine Scott, 110 Prince street, strong friend to Doan's Kidney Pills Alexandria, Va., says: "I am the same today, as I was in 1910 when I publicly told of the cure they had made for me. This cure has been lasting, but I occasionally use Doan's Kidney Pills as a preventive. I had pains in my back and I could not rest well. In the morning I always felt tired and worn out, and I also had dizzy spells. Doan's Kidney Pills did such good world that it is a pleasure to recommend them to other kidney sufferers."

WEEK'S HAPPENINGS IN FRATERNAL CIRCLES.

This has been an unusually busy week in Masonic circles. On Tuesday night a called communication of Alexandria-Washington Lodge No. 22, was held, at which time interesting work was transacted. Then on Wednesday night at a called meeting of Washington-Memorial Lodge of Perfection, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, the beautiful and impressive degrees of this rite from the fourth to the fourteenth inclusive were confirmed and last night Andrew Jackson Lodge No. 120, A. Tonight in the Young Peoples Building, Lone Star Camp No. 1, American Indian Guards, will hold their regular weekly meeting. These patriotic young Americans are very much elated with the generous spirit evinced by the public in general, as regards the contributions which have already been given to assist them in procuring their band instruments, and confidently assert that none will be sorry for having helped them, for they will exert every effort to prove themselves worthy of the trust reposed in them, by giving to the city, within the next six months, one of the best musical organizations yet instituted.

At the regular meeting of Alexandria Council, Order Fraternal Americans, held last night, the first degree of the order was conferred on one candidate. On the evening of February 13th, this Council will give a smoker, at which time there will be several interesting addresses made.

Oil Advances.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 31.—Middlemen began to complain when oil was advanced seven cents again today, having already been marked up seven cents on every day this week. The producers and refiners company quote $2.47 a barrel for Pennsylvania crude oil. The Joseph Seep agency quotes $2.40. Shortage of supply and increased cost of drilling are given as causes for the advances.

Following the advance in oil here today it was reported that a big Pittsburgh oil company had declared a 100 per cent dividend. Oil men explained that there might be two sources for such a rumor.

The Gulf Oil, one of the large corporations, having plants in Louisiana and New Jersey, and headquarters here, will hold a directors meeting in New York February 11. It is reported that at this meeting they will declare a big dividend estimated by some to be as hgh as 100 per cent.

Last week the Ohio Fuel Oil Co., a relatively small concern, sold stock at a par value of $1.00 and now selling at 18, declared a one dollar dividend.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Charges of brutality inflicted on the striking miners of Mineville, N. Y., by "criminals operating under the guise of police officials," by imported strikebreakers, deputies and guards, which "have caused a veritable reign of terror" in that vicinity were made to the American Federation of Labor today by J. Tylkoff, a labor organizer, in a plea for assistance.

Norris, of Nebraska, leader of the House progressives and Senator-elect, today outlined to the United Press his proposed program of action in the Senate. It spells support of progressive legislation of President Wilson and freedom from party yokes.

President Taft was today informed that all excavations for the Panama Canal will be completed about April 1. In Culebra the work was yesterday 94.41 per cent, completed. WILSON AND BRYAN.

No Justificatoin For Inference That Nebraskan Will Enter Cabinet.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 31.—According to President-elect Wilson who came to Philadelphia this morning to visit his dentist "There is no justification" for the inference that Wm. J. Bryan is to be secretary of state and the new administration. He said today:

"I note that some of the morning papers declare definitely that Mr. Bryan isto be secretary of state and that I sent him a message by Colonel House. The story is based on the fact that I could not recall the name of other men who had been suggested to me for secretary of state.

"There is no justification for any such inference. In the first place I doubt if I could recall the names of the men who have been suggested for any cabinet position. In the second place I am not limited to suggestions in making up my cabinet. I reserve the privilege of making some suggestions to myself, and I might appoint to places in my cabinet men who have not been suggested to me at all.

"As to any definite conclusions concerning the cabinet, the situation is the same that it has been all along. I have not reached any decisions. I have not sent any message to Mr. Bryan by Col. House or by anybody else."

Governor Wilson expected to go to New York this afternoon to have a "fitting" at a tailor's where a week ago today he ordered a new black cutaway frock suit for his inauguration.

Clothing Strike Feared.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—The threatened strike of garment workers became more probable today when it was learned that a secret order had been sent out from the union for the collection of a strike fund.

Two hundred thousand dollars is the sum asked for.

Three mass meetings will be held Sunday evening.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

London—A tailor's window in Northampton displays this sign: "Missieurs' hailiments fashionably fabricated, invisibly renovated, metomorphated and depurated."

Dresden.—Fearing a panic resulting from the war scare, Mrs. Margarette Sterlitz, 73, withdrew her savings, $76 from a savings bank and placed it in a cupboard where mice ate it up.

As frost to the bud, and blight to the blossom, even such is self interest to friendship, for confidence cannot dwell where selfishness is porter at the gate. Just so with footwear, you want confidence in the seller and you want it confirmed by the wear of the article. Experience has proven that Marshall keeps on hand the best, and does not recommend them beyond what the wear proves.

NEW WALKING COAT.

A Touch of Sportiness In This Spring Model.

CHECKED COAT IN THREE QUARTER LENGTH

Silk frocks and tailored street gowns of light weight wool and other seasonable materials will be covered in the street next spring by good looking walking conts in three-quarter lengths.

The coat illustrated is a stunning affair of this genre, made of checked worsted with plain cloth trimmings. It is decidedly smart and snappy.

The Next Mistress of the White House.

With the outgoing of Mrs. William Howard Taft, whom the country has loved and honored, there will go into the White House four most attractive women, the president's wife and his three charming daughters.

It has been said that no more refined, unassuming and considerate leaders of the social set have entered Washington in many days than will be these four.

Mrs. Wilson has never essayed to social leadership. She has been much in social life, both as the wife of a university president and mistress of a gubernatorial mansion, but her home is her life. The social glamour of the White House has no appeal for Mrs. Wilson and her daughters, although they are admirably fitted for the high social position. Mrs. Wilson is democratic in manner and life as well as in politics. Her daughters, it has been said, are not only like their mother, but also resemble their distinguished father.

Simple tastes, simple demands, simple living without frills or pretenses, will be their part. Mrs. Wilson was the daughter of a Presbyterian minister, and she has never departed from her "raising." Her ideals of life are high and religious. She is a wide reader and an entertaining talker and an artist of considerable ability. The charms of the three daughters will readily make for them a place in the hearts of Washington society and of the nation.

Margaret Wilson, the eldest, is twenty-six. She is probably the plainest of the three sisters. She is a short, slender, blond girl, wiry and vivacious. She loves golfing, fishing or a dashing game of tennis or baseball. She dances gracefully, rides horseback, swims, plays basketball and tells stories and converses as delightfully as her father. Miss Margaret is the musician of the family, with ambitions to make her career on the concert stage. The White House will probably not alter her plans, as she is devoted to her art.

Miss Jessie, the second sister, is the beauty of the trio and also the more serious. She is a social settlement worker and the youngest member of the nation board of the Young Women's Christian association.

Eleanor, the "baby," is the only one who bears a nickname. To her family and to her intimates she is "Nell." Tall, dark and attractive, she is often taken for the oldest of the Wilson sisters. For the last two years she has been studying art at the Philadelphia Academy of Fine Arts. Miss Eleanor is as lively as her eldest sister and brimful of fun.

The next second lady of the land, Mrs. Thomas Riley Marshall, wife of the vice president elect, is not a suffragette, but she is probably one of the cleverest women politicians in the country. She and her husband have never been separated a night through their fifteen years of married life. Mrs. Marshall also enjoys the distinction of being the only woman to accompany her husband as a gubernatorial candidate from one end of Indiana to the other on a speechmaking tour. She is a woman of keen literary appreciation, and the executive mansion at Philadelphia is full of books, but devoid of bookishness. Somebody has said of her home that it is the kind to make you "just want to sit down and stay to supper."

Woman Mayor.

Miss Clara Munson has been elected mayor of Warrenton, Ore., on the citizens' ticket. She is the first woman chosen to such an office in Oregon. She won by a majority of 16 votes.
